A tantárgy tartalmi jellemzői

The course aims at providing the opportunity to students to obtain first-hand experience in the areas of external and internal communications and public relations management at relevant professional organizations (e.g. cultural institutions, NGOs, media outlets) via field trips and personal consultations.

The course will include five sessions. At the first occasion, the students and the professor will identify the organizations to be visited during the semester. The areas to be discussed at the fieldtrips will also be outlined.

Those will include:

- status of the organization,
- vision and mission,
- areas of activities,
- organizational structure,
- achievements and challenges,
- human resources management,
- media management
- the use of social media tools in external communication,
- further topics of interest to be raised on site.

The students are to prepare a 3-5 page paper and/or 10-minute presentation and based on the field trips. Topics are to be approved by the professor.

Tentative schedule:

- 6 March 2020 at 14:00, Center for Independent Journalism, 1064 Budapest, Vörösmarty u. 47/a (near metro Oktogon) – Introduction to the course
- Late March (date to be confirmed) – visit to a media outlet (e.g. Euronews, Direkt36, Civil Radio)
- Early April (date to be confirmed) – visit to a cultural institution (e.g. Goethe Institut, American Corner, French Institute)
- Late April (date to be confirmed) – visit to a non-governmental organization (e.g. Subjective Values Foundation, Independent Journalism Foundation, Hungarian Europe Society)
- 8 May 2020 – Wrap-up, deadline for paper submission/presentation
