

St. Mary's College (Hyderabad-India)

Website	https://www.stmaryscollege.in/
Contact person	B. Mahender Reddy (mahender@stmarys.in)
Brief description of the University	St. Mary's Educational Society established the St. Mary's Junior College in 1982, currently located at Basheer Bagh, Hyderabad. Very soon, it became one of the most sought-after college for students in the twin cities. The second campus of St. Mary's College was established in 1995 at Yousufguda, Hyderabad, to cater to the intermediate level students. In 2002, it was upgraded to an undergraduate college.
Facts about Hyderabad	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Hyderabad is one of the chief producers of natural pearls and is also a major contributor of the diamond trade, hence is referred as the City of Pearls. The city was formerly known as Bom bahia, which means good bay in Portuguese. With the population of about 6.8 million, this city is ranked 4th among the most populous cities in India.

